

Scene of Introduction- character is introduced with a behavior or action that shows type of person they are/ introduces life dream

(Example answers in italics)

Action performed by New Character that shows most important character trait (to be book-ended with last image of scene): control freak = ironing curtains

Action performed by New Character that shows temperament: calmly ironing

Character reacts to someone threatening that reveals character through reaction: child runs through the house with dog and tracks mud all over the floor- New character curses and screams

Line of dialogue that suggests character's life dream (only include if not evident from action): "If we could afford a nanny I wouldn't have to deal with this"

Image related to object or action to end scene: iron burns through curtains

Notes on Scenes of Introduction:

Often establishes normalcy, but can be used to reveal true character through behavior in a situation that is out of their comfort zone.

Naomi Noir Productions
contact@naominoir.com